

Exchange student in Japan

Narusorn Veerachartwattana(ピーチ)

August 5.2016 , Nagasaki

This morning at 07.30 AM is my routine that go to eat breakfast every day. Today I had go to 2 Funeral facilities and Garden terrace Nagasaki hotel. First place that we went is Funeral facility (Tenreikaikan) and then go to 2nd place Funeral facility (Memolead Hall Ohashi). All I had to do is looked about place and how was japanese doing funeral . Especially Memolead Hall Ohashi is bigger than and has more space than Tenreikaikan.

About doing funeral here is different from Thailand. Thai people have to do funeral at temple. I think Memolead Group had good system to manage and looked very good. There are more car park and space to welcome guests and has rooms that cousin use for rest that do the funeral with company

Exchange student in Japan

Narusorn Veerachartwattana(ピーチ)

At noon we ate lunch with staff and then went to Nagasaki Garden Terrace Hotel. There are manager and his secretary that told me about information of this hotel. This hotel is luxury and most people came here for have some vacation or wedding. The hotel has many type of rooms for guest with different style. You can see good view from this hotel because it locate on the best spot. This hotel designed by very famous Architect name Kengo Kuma that designed Starbuck Coffee in Dazaifu. We looked around hotel and ask about how to do advertisement.

Exchange student in Japan

Narusorn Veerachartwattana(ピーチ)

The hardest for me is how to communicate with people here because my Japanese language is beginner so I will know just some part of information but people here try to use hand and make some actions to let me understand what they are talking about. Today I really enjoy because it is not easy to see and get information about Japanese funeral. The hotel is very beautiful and luxury. I think if there are many advertisements for international it would be a good chance to pull travellers who love this hotel style come and have some vacation in Nagasaki.