

Life in Fukuoka

By Ruthai Thaveechulavong

September 3, 2016

Today is my last day in Fukuoka. I got up early for preparing myself. Mr.Tusubone and Mrs.Neko sent me to the airport since 8 o'clock. We took a photo together and said goodbye at the front of airport entrance gate.

After that I went to checking counter. And I met many Japanese friends came to send me at the airport. I'm very happy to meet them again before I go back. They are very kind and friendly with me. When I had a problem with something, they help me. I told them that I will come back to Fukuoka and we will meet again! And some Japanese friends have a plan to Thailand, so I told them that I will be your guide in Thailand.

Finally, I'm very grateful for this golden opportunity in Fukuoka where I learn many new things, have a chance to learn more about local company that I intern with, have a chance to do activities with Japanese students, have a good friendship, have a nice host, open my mind to go aboard, etc. Thanks everyone in Fukuoka who are supported and took care me everything. I have a lot of memories from this place and I will keep it in my heart forever. Goodbye Fukuoka!

